OUR SUCCESS STORIES

District of Columbia (DC) Department of Health Care Finance (DHCF)

Bizzell conducted a comprehensive review of the reimbursement rates and structure for Medicaid Home Health providers under the DC DHCF, aiming to enhance health outcomes, ensure cost-effectiveness and align services with current delivery and reimbursement practices. Our approach involved gathering, analyzing and reporting on both primary and secondary data sources, including detailed examinations of DC records, claims data, reimbursement rates and the characteristics of providers and beneficiaries. We scrutinized the alignment between provider costs and payments, complemented by an environmental scan of payment methodologies in other states to identify best practices. To ensure a thorough and transparent review process, we engaged both Medicaid and non-Medicaid providers and considered previous studies to understand critical cost factors such as co-morbid conditions, workforce expenses and administrative overheads. Our stakeholder engagement was pivotal in maintaining transparency and credibility in our findings and recommendations. Ultimately, Bizzell's recommendations emphasized the adoption of alternative payment methodologies designed to promote person-centered care, establish equitable rates, introduce performance incentive payments and ultimately improve health outcomes for Medicaid beneficiaries.

Health Resources and Services Administration (HRSA) Maternal and Child Health Bureau (MCHB) Sickle Cell Disease Newborn Screening Program Technical Assistance

Bizzell provided comprehensive technical assistance (TA) to the Sickle Cell Disease Association of America (SCDAA) to significantly enhance their capabilities in financial planning, budgeting, cash management, third-party reimbursements, grants management, cost allocation, fiscal reporting and audit compliance. This support was crucial for the effective management of their HRSA grant award. Our efforts included a thorough review and assessment of SCDAA's financial statements and internal controls, alongside the development of corrective action plans to address any audit findings, ensuring strict compliance with federal regulations. Through strategic planning, site visits and ongoing financial and business management assistance, we identified and implemented methods for SCDAA to provide cost-effective, evidence-based technical assistance to community-based organizations. This, in turn, improved their management of the HRSA grant process. We also offered targeted recommendations to enhance oversight and communication between SCDAA and its subawardees, fostering a more cohesive and efficient operation. Utilizing the HRSA TA Tracking System, Bizzell managed the TA process from start to finish, delivering detailed monthly progress reports. These reports highlighted key activities, identified issues and provided actionable recommendations for enhancing performance, ensuring effective grant management and improving sub-recipient monitoring. Our holistic approach not only strengthened SCDAA's financial and operational frameworks but also empowered them to better serve the community-based organizations they support.

Health Resources and Services Administration (HRSA) Maternal and Child Health Bureau (MCHB) Division of Home Visiting and Early Childhood Systems (DHVECS)

Bizzell implemented a comprehensive programmatic and financial assessment tool for grantees, helping states define and evaluate their home visiting systems. This tool assessed capacity and prioritized improvement areas through a series of questions organized into nine sections: inventorying home visiting programs, needs assessment and program planning, evaluation and quality assurance, program standards, professional development and technical assistance, early childhood partnerships and collaboration, public engagement, administration and governance, and financing and sustainability. We managed an Automated Technical Assistance Tracking System (TATS), enhancing and maintaining a roster of subject matter expert contractor technical assistance providers. Additionally, Bizzell developed two web portals to streamline site visit planning and communication — one for technical assistance providers and another for Maternal, Infant, Early Childhood Home Visiting (MIECHV) grantees. These efforts ensured a more efficient and effective support system for home visiting programs across states.
